Caring for your real Christmas tree

Thank you for supporting a British grower. Buying British has reduced your 'tree miles' and helped ensure a fresher product with a lower carbon footprint. Real Christmas tree plantations play an important role in the British landscape, not only at Christmas but all year round, and contribute to a mosaic of important habitats which support our wildlife.

Real Christmas trees are a fresh product which have been nurtured for up to 10 years before being harvested. Your grower has taken every care to provide you with the best tree possible and we would advise following the steps to keep your tree fresh and fragrant throughout the festive season:

When you get your tree home

Once you get your tree home, keep it outside until you are ready to decorate it... don't forget to keep it watered. A tree absorbs water better from a freshly cut trunk of about 1''inch.

Bringing your tree inside

Before bringing your tree inside, tap the bottom of the tree onto the ground. This will remove any old needles which the tree naturally sheds throughout its life.

Plan your trees location

Keep your tree away from fires, radiators and drafts. If you have underfloor heating, turn the zone off where your Christmas tree is or use a mat to prevent it from getting too hot.

Keep your tree watererd

They drink more than you think!
For cut trees, choose a water holding stand that is the right size for your tree. If you have a pot grown tree, keep it watered.

Potted Christmas Trees

Get your fingers into the top layer of the soil and if it feels dry it needs a drink.
Your tree will live on after christmas. Keep watering and put outside gradually.
If it's very cold, keep in a shed or garage before putting out in a sheltered spot.
Feed and water during Spring & Summer.
